Meet the Keynote: Second Lady Blayre Holmes Davis

Senior Director of Community Relations | Pittsburgh Steelers

Blayre Holmes Davis is the Director of Community Relations for the Pittsburgh Steelers, where she leads community engagement, player outreach, and league-wide social responsibility efforts.

With more than 10 years of nonprofit experience, including her time at Adagio Health, she has built strong partnerships across Western Pennsylvania and is a frequent speaker on social justice, leadership, and youth engagement.

Blayre serves on several local boards and, as Second Lady of Pennsylvania, supports communities across the Commonwealth alongside her husband, Austin Davis, the first Black Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania.
